For The Teacher

A FLIGHT TO GRANDMOTHER'S

Enclosed are 25 of the 114 pictures selected from the booklet "A Flight to Grandmother's". Although some are omitted, they follow in the same sequence as they appear in the booklet. They are reproduced in large size so that the teacher may discuss points of interest in the filmstrip program.

The questions on the back of each picture are listed as an aid for the teacher in the classroom. The questions are representative of what elementary school pupils at the various grade levels designated have initiated when the set of pictures were sampled in one elementary school. Obviously, the questions are framed in the words of the pupils of the test group. The list is not exhaustive and some questions which the teacher might select for use with a class group will no doubt give rise to other questions from the pupils.

Grade level questions do not necessarily apply to just the one indicated grade. The grouping is made only for the purpose of spotting a starting point for the teacher. Many questions grouped at higher or lower grade levels can be adapted to a specific grade. The use of these pictures and questions will make a good follow-up of the color filmstrip, "A Flight To Grandmother's," especially for the early grades. For upper grade children they can readily be worked into a transportation unit as a motivating activity for group or individual projects.
